LEGISLATURE UP AGAINST IT NOW

Beall and Guinn Pardons Concern Legislators Seriously.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE?

Afraid to Approve Wilson Because It Might Lose Them Votes.

(By Staff Correspondent.)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 21.—

Whether the Oklahoma legislature will pass a resolution commending President Wilson for pardoning Beall and Guinn, the Kingfisher county election officials, who were convicted and sent to the federal prison for violation of the federal law, remains to be seen. The matter has been discussed in Democratic caucus, but has not yet been mentioned openly on the floor of the house or senate.

Beall and Guinn were pardoned the day the legislature met and since then some members have been in favor of passing such a resolution, but others have opposed it, on the ground that it would have a tendency to inflame the voters who believe that the election officials should have been compelled to serve out the terms to which they were sentenced. The contention of those who want to commend the president for his action is that Beall and Guinn, as election officials, were only enforcing the state election law and were in no way responsible, because the law conflicted with the constitution of the United States. Others recall that Beall and Guinn were convicted because they went far beyond the state law in their efforts to prevent negroes from voting.

State Helped Them.

The trial and conviction of the two election officials took place at End in 1910. Judge Cotter of the federal court sentenced them to serve a year in the federal prison at Leavenworth, but an appeal was taken and, by attorneys employed by the state, the case was carried to the United States court of appeals. The supreme court later reviewed the findings of the circuit court of appeals and affirmed the findings against the election officials. The Oklahoma legislature appropriated $25,000 for the defense of Beall and Guinn, but was unable to save them. They were presumably enforcing the "grandfather" law of the state, and for that reason the state felt obliged to protect them.

The trial and conviction of Beall and Guinn has always been hotly contended over between the two leading political parties of the state. The contention of the Democrats has been that they were only enforcing the "grandfather clause." The Republicans contend that they were preventing qualified voters from casting their ballots. They practiced the same system that was followed in every precinct in the state where there was a large negro vote, and the

TWELVE YEARS OF FADING HEALTH

BROUGHT TO HAPPY END, SAYS THE PEOPLE IN THREE COUNTIES KNOW WHAT CARDUI DID FOR HER.

Weaver, N. C.—Mrs. Abigail Hampton, of this place, says that about 12 years ago she began to take Cardui after having been in failing health for 12 years, during which time she had to take to her bed four days out of each month, and suffered agonies that the doctors told her she must have female trouble and gave her medicine which did her no good and finally insisted on her going to the hospital for treatment.

She goes on to say: "I am a large woman, and my ordinary weight, two pounds, went down to 135. I had so bad a first orgasm around and could scarcely sit up. . . . My neighbors all thought I was going to die and would say, 'I couldn't live long. My wife's daughter thought the same. . . ."

My husband and friends urged me to try Cardui, and he bought me some of it. I began feeling better as soon as I began taking it, and I steadily improved until I was well and strong. I can now go on my hands and knees and have cooked for 20 borders at one time. Am a strong, healthy woman, permanently cured by Cardui. My husband and I can't say enough for Cardui. . . . The people in three counties know what Cardui has done for me. For neither I nor my husband ever cease praising it."

Cardui is for sale at all druggists with full directions for use. Try it.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, and they were cured by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects. If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of energy, active living, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel—10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

plan was said to have been evolved in the minds of the state election officials. It was proved at the trial that the two election officials from Kingfisher county were in consultation with the state election officials just before the election.

An Impossible Test.

It was planned to prevent qualified negroes from voting, it is contended by Republicans, by giving them large sections of the United States constitution to copy. If the voter was unable to copy the first and turned in the sections of the constitution that had been given to him, written, legibly, and correctly, some fault was found with it and he was denied the privilege of voting. The usual plan was to give the voter a copy of much of a task in copying the constitution that he could not possibly complete it before the polls closed. In that way, it was calculated, the law had been complied with and the negro voters had been prevented from casting their ballots.

These instructions, it was alleged, were given to the county election officials all over the state, and the plans were carried out to the letter. Anonymous evidence in the case of Beall and Guinn said that had the county officials in half the counties of the state been arrested on similar charges, they could have been convicted.

To Pass Another One.

When the decision against the "grandfather clause" was made by the United States supreme court, it was known that there was no hope for the Kingfisher county election officials. A movement was started at once for their pardon, and it has been successful.

Now the members of the legislature stand in a peculiar position. They are expected at the special session to pass another law which will be United States supreme court proof. It is a big undertaking for them. No measure that end has yet been introduced, and the legislature has been flooded with petitions asking that the literacy test shall not be applied in any election law that is passed at the special session.

When the first of these petitions were received the legislators laughed at them and dismissed them with the assertion that they were sent by Socialists and negroes. They have continued to laugh at them, but some of the members have become more thoughtful than they were during the first days of the special session. When a Democratic member of the legislature receives a petition signed by six or seven hundred voters in his county, some of them known to him personally as good and active workers in his party, in which he is asked to vote against any election law that contains a literacy test, he may not give much consideration to the petition, but his eye falls on the paragraph, "unless you do, you will be the last Democratic member of the legislature elected in this county," he is likely to give it some thought. Such petitions have been received, and they have contained such threats.

Can't Be Done With Grace.

Passing a resolution commending President Wilson for any of his acts would ordinarily be an easy thing for the Democratic legislature of this state, but just now a resolution commending him for the pardon of Beall and Guinn would be fought with danger. Especially since it is necessary at this session to pass another law to accomplish the same thing for which Beall and Guinn were sent to the penitentiary.

Resolutions praising the president for his action have been written, but they have up to this time been held in abeyance. It was the intention of

OPINIONS DIFFER ON ACCIDENT
Midland Valley People Declare Thurman Hackney Was Not Under Car.
According to employees of the Midland Valley railroad, upon which Thurman Hackney was killed last Tuesday, Hackney was not under a car at the time of the accident, nor was he run over by a box car. On the contrary, according to the explanation of the railroad people, the man stepped directly in front of a switching engine, which ran over him.

The first report was that Hackney, while at work under a car, was run over before he could save himself, after the car had been run into by a switching engine.
